President's Message

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2011 edition of the Panhandle South Plains Fair. The Fair has had a long history of promoting the education of our youth and the rich agricultural history of the South Plains. This year marks the 94th annual event.

I am proud to serve as President of the Board of a truly family friendly event in our community. The fair is made up of many different activities, all of which combine to make it successful. No one component of this fair is as important as competition. One of the key essential ingredients for this to be considered a fair is that it must have some type competition. It is a heritage upon which the fair industry is built. The Panhandle South Plains Fair continues to be extremely vibrant in this area. You can walk to the barns and see the finest in livestock competition, tour the women's building to experience many of the home arts projects produced by so many dedicated individuals. The volunteers that run our livestock show and organize the activity in the Women's Building are essential to our success.

While you are on the grounds you can experience a wide range of free fairgrounds attractions for your enjoyment. This year we have: Wild About Monkeys, Fido 500, Shenanigans, Gooseman, Middle Earth Puppet show, Ron Diamond, Greg Frisbee, and our good friend, the intergalactic ambassador of goodwill Rock It the Robot.

In addition you may enjoy a spectacular carnival midway presented by Miller Spectacular Shows of Greenbrier, AR. There is always an opportunity to see world-class musical performances in the legendary Fair Park Coliseum. This historic building, which has hosted thousands of concerts over the years, has had the distinction of both Buddy Holly and Elvis Presley appearing in it. This year's lineup includes: Halestorm, Loverboy, Grand Funk Railroad, Kevin Fowler, Easton Corbin and K-Ci and JoJo.

Join me September 23 through October 1, 2011 for the best family fun available on the South Plains!

Panhandle South Plains Board of Directors

Gary Greenstreet, President

From the Manager's Desk

Every year it comes time to add a little something to the premium book. This year is no different except the longer I am in the business the quicker the fair seems to come around. When I started over 34 years ago fairs were twelve months apart. Now it seems as though it was just yesterday that we said goodbye to the 2010 fair. In reality it will be a year but it seems that activity never stops.

Recently, I was speaking to an individual associated with the fair who reminded me that it is essential that the fair remain affordable. I pointed out that if you look at all of the free grounds entertainment attractions in the various locations around the grounds, visit the women's building, tour the animal barns, look at the open crops, agricultural mechanics exhibits, visit the children's barnyard and walk through the rabbits, pigeons and poultry building, what a wonderful day for a more than affordable price. The alternative could be attending a movie where you may be entertained for 90 minutes for more per person than the fair. When you come to the fair you are not just entertained, there is an educational opportunity for everyone.

The fair faces current day challenges. How do we continue to present the same quality event and maintain affordable pricing? The fair is a weather dependent business that depends on a very narrow window of opportunity to make the money it needs to continue. The fair time income can only increase through a combination of increased attendance and natural price increases. Eventually, you will hit a wall that maximizes income for the fair operation. The future additional income for the fair is in the area of non-fair rentals. It is the goal of the fair to increase the non fair usage of the grounds. This last year saw a major musical concert and three mixed martial arts events in the Coliseum. There are two more mixed martial arts events scheduled for this year subject to confirmation. As many of you know, the Cinco de Mayo event promoted by Ramar Communications came to the fair a few years ago and last year our facilities were host to Fiesta Patrias. Much of our efforts and energies must be directed towards these types of activities. The real challenge is to book these events and price them properly so that the fair can cover its costs and have a little left over. That is a definite challenge when you have been "the cheapest game in town". The South Plains Fairgrounds must be the first choice, not the compromise winner. It will necessitate improvements in the facilities and excellent customer service. Every one of the staff of the fair is firmly committed to attaining these goals.

I encourage you to join us September 23 – October 1 for the best fair in Texas. See you there!
